

Southern Gulf
NRM

Funding Available

For schools and community groups

Southern Gulf NRM has Community Capacity Building funding available for environmental projects.

Schools and community groups in the Southern Gulf region are encouraged to apply for support projects or to host events that protect, enhance or educate about the natural environment and/or Indigenous culture.

Funding requests between $1,000 & $5,000 (excl. GST) will be considered.

The Community Capacity Building environmental fund must achieve:

Increased community capacity for natural resource management

For example, participation in natural resource management, building knowledge and skills, communication about sustainable environmental management, or building partnerships and/or organisational capacity.

Project applications will be assessed on:

- Community participation
- Community engagement in project design
- Extent community awareness will be raised
- Extent community capacity is increased
- Environmental benefits of the project
- Any additional community or social benefits (eg: increased exercise is usually involved in most projects, so healthy living is a social benefit)
- Project area within Southern Gulf NRM region
- Aligns with the Southern Gulf Strategic Management Plan of June 2016

Examples of past projects and events:

- Tharrapatha-way artwork and native tree planting
- Yarning Circle at Townview State School
- Native plant nursery at Central State School

Other potential projects or events:

- Interpretive signage
- Workshops, Awareness days, Events
- Short Films
- Educational materials
